The China Collectors Karl E. Meyer, Shareen Blair Brysac, 2015-03-10 Thanks to Salem sea captains Gilded Age millionaires curators on horseback and missionaries gone native North American museums now possess the greatest collections of Chinese art outside of East Asia itself How did it happen The China Collectors is the first full account of a century long treasure hunt in China from the Opium Wars and the Boxer Rebellion to Mao Zedong's 1949 ascent The principal gatherers are mostly little known and defy invention They included foreign devils who braved desert sandstorms bandits and local warlords in acquiring significant works Adventurous curators like Langdon Warner a forebear of Indiana Jones argued that the caves of Dunhuang were already threatened by vandals thereby justifying the removal of frescoes and sculptures Other Americans include George Kates an alumnus of Harvard Oxford and Hollywood who fell in love with Ming furniture The Chinese were divided between dealers who profited from the artworks removal and scholars who sought to protect their country's patrimony Duanfang the greatest Chinese collector of his era was beheaded in a coup and his splendid bronzes now adorn major museums Others in this rich tapestry include Charles Lang Freer an enlightened Detroit entrepreneur two generations of Rockefellers and Avery Brundage the imperious Olympian and Arthur Sackler the grand acquirer No less important are two museum directors Cleveland's Sherman Lee and Kansas City's Laurence Sickman who challenged the East Coast's hegemony Shareen Blair Brysac and Karl E Meyer even handedly consider whether ancient treasures were looted or salvaged and whether it was morally acceptable to spirit hitherto inaccessible objects westward where they could be studied and preserved by trained museum personnel And how should the US and Canada and their museums respond now that China has the means and will to reclaim its missing patrimony

Chinese Steles Dorothy C. Wong, 2004-09-30 Buddhist steles represent an important subset of early Chinese Buddhist art that flourished during the Northern and Southern Dynasties period 386-581 More than two hundred Chinese Buddhist steles are known to have survived Their brilliant imagery has long captivated scholars yet until now the Buddhist stele as a unique art form has received little scholarly attention Dorothy Wong rectifies that insufficiency by providing in this well illustrated volume the first comprehensive investigation of this group of Buddhist monuments She traces the ancient roots of the Chinese stele tradition and investigates the process by which Chinese steles were adapted for Buddhist use She arranges the known corpus of Buddhist steles into broad chronological and regional groupings and analyzes not only their form and content but also the nexus of complex issues surrounding this art form from cultural symbolism to the interrelations between religious doctrine and artistic expression economic production patronage and the synthesis of native and foreign art styles In her analysis of Buddhism's dialogue with native traditions Wong demonstrates how the Chinese artistic idiom planted the seeds for major achievements in figural and landscape arts in the ensuing Sui and Tang periods

Thinking Colours Victoria Bogushevskaya, Elisabetta Colla, 2015-10-05 The essays collected into this volume are organized into five interrelated sections exploring discourse on the interaction between sensation perceptions of colour and the various forms of their cultural representation The contributors analyse aspects related to colour labelling its mediation and representation consider traditional and new approaches to colour and explore the cultural productivity of colour across different fields Colour is presented within a conceptual framework that fosters alliances between the humanities and the social and natural sciences Part I is dedicated to stu

Chinese Painting and Its Audiences Craig Clunas,2023-10-17 A history of the reception of Chinese painting from the sixteenth century to the present What is Chinese painting When did it begin And what are the different associations of this term in China and the West In Chinese Painting and Its Audiences which is based on the A W Mellon Lectures in the Fine Arts given at the National Gallery of Art leading art historian Craig Clunas draws from a wealth of artistic masterpieces and lesser known pictures some of them discussed here in English for the first time to show how Chinese painting has been understood by a range of audiences over five centuries from the Ming Dynasty to today Chinese Painting and Its Audiences demonstrates that viewers in China and beyond have irrevocably shaped this great artistic tradition Arguing that audiences within China were crucially important to the evolution of Chinese painting Clunas considers how Chinese artists have imagined the reception of their own work By examining paintings that depict people looking at paintings he introduces readers to ideal types of viewers the scholar the gentleman the merchant the nation and the people In discussing the changing audiences for Chinese art Clunas emphasizes that the diversity and quantity of images in Chinese culture make it impossible to generalize definitively about what constitutes Chinese painting Exploring the complex relationships between works of art and those who look at them Chinese Painting and Its Audiences sheds new light on how the concept of Chinese painting has been formed and reformed over hundreds of years Published in association with the Center for Advanced Study in the Visual Arts National Gallery of Art Washington DC Please note All images in this ebook are presented in black and white and have been reduced in size

An Introduction to Chinese Art Michael Sullivan,

Art for Social Change and Cultural Awakening Wei Hsiu Tung, 2013-09-05 Artistic residency has become widely adopted in Western countries while only recently having become popular and well supported within Taiwan This book explores the challenges that this form of art practice faced in contemporary Taiwan from the revocation of Martial Law in 1987 to the 2000s arguably one of the most exciting periods in the sociocultural history of the island Case studies show what is at stake politically historically and socially in artists endeavours to give shape to a sense of Taiwanese identity Despite the prevalence of artists engaged in social issues in today s world and the undeniable contributions of artistic residency to contemporary art practice little literature or scholarly research has been conducted on the practical conceptual and ideological aspects of artist residency Very often it is perceived in very narrow terms overlooking explicit or hidden issues of localism nationalism and globalization If artistic residence did indeed emerge from the radical movements of the 1960s and 70s in the Western world and especially Britain then this book argues that the contemporary sociocultural context of Taiwan calls for redefined culturally specific models of residency The precarious geo political situation of Taiwan has made issues of cultural identity tackled by artists and successive governments alike very sensitive A new genre of artistic residence in Taiwan would mean that artists involved from whatever cultural background operate as engaging interpreters their roles would not be confined to mirroring culture and society These artists in residence would contribute to cultural awakening by offering ways of negotiating creatively with otherness and this for the sake of a better social life and shared identity

Original Copies Bianca Bosker, 2013-01-31 A 108 meter high Eiffel Tower rises above Champs Elys es Square in Hangzhou A Chengdu residential complex for 200 000 recreates Dorchester England An ersatz Queen s Guard patrols Shanghai s Thames Town where pubs and statues of Winston Churchill abound Gleaming replicas of the White House dot Chinese cities from Fuyang to Shenzhen These examples are but a sampling of China s most popular and startling architectural movement the construction of monumental themed communities that replicate towns and cities in the West Original Copies presents the first definitive chronicle of this remarkable phenomenon in which entire townships appear to have been airlifted from their historic and geographic foundations in Europe and the Americas and spot welded to Chinese cities These copycat constructions are not theme parks but thriving communities where Chinese families raise children cook dinners and simulate the experiences of a pseudo Orange County or Oxford In recounting the untold and evolving story of China s predilection for replicating the greatest architectural hits of the West Bianca Bosker explores what this unprecedented experiment in duplitecture implies for the social political architectural and commercial landscape of contemporary China With her lively authoritative narrative the author shows us how in subtle but important ways these homes and public spaces shape the behavior of their residents as they reflect the achievements dreams and anxieties of those who inhabit them as well as those of their developers and designers From Chinese philosophical perspectives on copying to twenty first century market forces Bosker details the factors giving rise to China s new breed of building Her analysis draws on insights from the world s leading architects critics and city planners and on interviews with the residents of these developments
